Johnson Backs Eisenhower's Mideast Policy

Resolution Clear Warning To Reds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) urged the Senate today to adopt the modified Middle East resolution and tell the Communists to "keep out" of that strategic area.

Submitted by President Eisenhower, the resolution was rewritten by the Senate's Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees.

Johnson said that in its new form it serves notice that aggressive communism will be opposed "not by just one man, and not by just one branch of government, but by the institutions representing the united will of the American people."

Republicans also got behind the resolution as the Senate opened what is expected to be a two-week debate on Middle Eastern policy.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said that while he thought Eisenhower's original language was more "effective" the revised resolution should make it apparent to Russia that "any aggression on her part will bring consequences which are both immediate and devastating."

In its present form the resolution expresses the readiness of the United States to use armed forces, at the President's discretion, against any military aggression in the Middle East by "any country controlled by international communism."

It also empowers the President to launch a 200 million dollar economic and military aid program for nations in the region.

Johnson coupled his support of the legislation with criticism of the administration for the way in which he said administration leaders presented it to Congress.

No branch of government, Johnson said, should try to "operate on a put up or shut up basis" and ask another branch to "to my way, or else."

Congress is not a rubber stamp, Johnson asserted.

West Outlines Plan For Use Of Suez Canal

Proposals Handed To Hammarskjold; Egypt Still Silent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—The United States, Britain, France and Norway transmitted today to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold proposals for a temporary arrangement for use of the Suez Canal. He is expected to pass them on to Egypt.

This was reported by authoritative sources after representatives of those four countries held a 30-minute conference with Hammarskjold. The delegates would say only they saw Hammarskjold for an exchange of views on an interim arrangement for the canal.

Two Main Points

The arrangement suggested by the four countries was reported to contain two main points. One called for sharing canal tolls on a 50-50 basis with Egypt once the waterway is cleared and the other for use of the canal by all countries.

Egypt has remained officially silent on the question of the canal but informed sources said Egypt is threatening to keep the canal closed by holding up clearance until Israeli troops have left all of Egypt.

Assembly Session Set

The United States and other leading countries in the U.N. General Assembly are trying to work out a method to get Israel out of Egypt. The Assembly has scheduled a meeting for Thursday on the Middle East but there are reports this session will be postponed until Saturday to give Israel more time to answer an American formula for Israel's withdrawal.

The Asian-African group called a meeting tomorrow to consider once more Arab demands for sanctions on Israel.

This meeting is set for a few hours after President Eisenhower confers at the White House with Congress leaders on the Middle East.

Tom Isbell (right) and Sheriff Bert Strand (left), who quoted the boy as saying he killed his parents in their Wichita Falls, Tex., home Saturday. ## Refugee Syrian Political Leader Slain In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Feb. 19 (AP)—An assassin's submachine gun bullets killed a refugee Syrian political leader in a Beirut street today. The shooting seemed likely to plunge Lebanon's relations with Syria, her Arab neighbor, to a new low.

The victim was Ghassan Jedd, former Syrian army major, a defendant in absentia in Syria's current trial of 47 men accused of plotting to overthrow the pro-Soviet Syrian regime. Jedd has been under a sentence of death for alleged complicity in a political assassination in Damascus.

Police Kill Assassin

Police pursued the assassin and shot him dead in a blazing gunfight. The assassin was identified unofficially as a Syrian named Izzat Shaath.

Jedd was a leader of the Social National party of Syria, which is outlawed both in Lebanon and Syria. He had been a political refugee in Lebanon for the past two years, fleeing Syria after the assassination of Col. Adnan Malki, former deputy chief of staff of the Syrian army.

The killer cut loose as Jedd emerged in midafternoon from his house on Sadat street in the center of Beirut's American quarter. Eight bullets struck him and he died soon after arrival at a hospital.

Jedd's Party Outlawed

Jedd's Social National party, strongly anti-Communist, was outlawed in Syria after the Malki assassination. The party stands for establishment of a "greater Syria," a scheme which would link all the Arab countries of the so-called fertile crescent—Syria, Lebanon, Iraq and Jordan. Members of this party are among those on trial in Syria on charges of plotting with Britain and Iraq, Syria's pro-Western neighbor, to overthrow Syria's government.

Of the 47 on trial, only 29 were in custody in Damascus. The rest were in exile, mostly in Lebanon.

Patience Of Negroes Wearing Thin, Civil Rights Hearing Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—A Negro leader testified today he "cannot predict what mood might be engendered" among Southern Negroes if they do not get "a minimum guarantee" of constitutional rights.

Up to now, he said, they have followed a course of "nonviolence in the face of extreme provocation."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, testified at a Senate judiciary subcommittee hearing on civil rights legislation.

He said Negroes have shown great patience though recent months "have been marked by almost continuous violence directed at Negro citizens and groups in the South who seek elimination of discrimination and segregation."

But he indicated this mood might change if Congress does not approve President Eisenhower's civil rights proposals. These measures are "meaningful," he said, and would serve as a starting point for congressional action in this field.

Eisenhower's program would permit the attorney general to seek injunctions to protect voting rights and allow the Justice Department to initiate civil suits in cases involving alleged denial of civil rights.

It also calls for creation of a civil rights division in the Justice Department and a special presidential commission to investigate complaints of rights violations.

In a move to speed subcommittee hearings on the program, Wilkins served as spokesman for 26 organizations allied in their support of the proposals.

Bulganin Warns Arabs Of U.S. 'Insane Plans'

MOSCOW, Feb. 19 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin, bidding for Arab rejection of the Eisenhower doctrine, said today the United States has insane plans for world domination. These plans plunge the peoples of the Middle East into the "hell of atomic and hydrogen war," he declared.

Bulganin called the Eisenhower doctrine "a colonial trap prepared by U.S. oil monopolies."

"The Arab people must display the greatest vigilance against the threat of this new enslavement," he said.

Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev used the same forum—a Soviet-Bulgarian friendship meeting—to warn of other things. He called for two fold vigilance—first against "the intrigues of imperialist reaction" and second against past mistakes within the party. He cited particularly a need to "work tirelessly to consolidate the ranks of our party and make sure they are not penetrated by traitors and opportunists."

Bulganin's attack was applauded loudly by the picked audience. He expanded on a line he took with Red China's Premier Chou En-lai in a joint statement Jan. 18. They condemned the Eisenhower doctrine and pledged the people of the Middle East "any necessary support" to avert aggression and interference in their affairs.

Air Force Switches Signals On Sky Giant

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Air Force tonight retracted a five-day-old announcement that it is building a giant transport of "unprecedented" dimensions.

In place of the claim, contained in a regular news release issued at the Pentagon on Feb. 14, the Air Force put out a statement saying "it is considering the possibility of terminating" the project.

The Douglas Aircraft Co. has been developing the huge aircraft known as the C132 transport.

The Air Force is known to have rushed its Feb. 14 announcement into print after it was learned a national circulation magazine had an article on the C132 project. Air Force officials tonight conceded they had hastened the announcement before getting correct information.

Officer Of Guard Favors Pentagon Training Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Roy Green of the California National Guard sided with the Pentagon today in its plan to require six months training for National Guard recruits.

Green was the first Guard officer to tell a House Armed Services subcommittee that the six months plan was a good idea.

Last month Green supported the statement by Secretary of Defense Wilson that some men joined the Guard to dodge the draft during the Korean War.

The House subcommittee is looking into the Defense Department's plan to require six months of active training duty for men joining the Guard after March 31. The department contends that most guardsmen are not sufficiently trained.

Green said he has already put the six-months training into effect in his division, the 49th. He said "the effect has been to stabilize the division" and he predicted that if applied to all units, it "won't kill the Guard, it will make the Guard."

Demo Solons Go On Record Against Move

Arabs To Demand Israel Punishment In U.N. Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower sped back from a Georgia vacation today to find himself and his administration caught in a terrific squeeze on the issue of sanctions for Israel.

On one side was an increasing body of congressional opinion against punishing Israel for her refusal to withdraw from Egyptian territory without nonaggression guarantee.

On the other side, the Arab world—which the United States has been wooing in an attempt to block Communist expansion in the Middle East—was crying for United Nations economic sanctions if Israel doesn't pull out.

There were two major developments in the squeeze today.

1. A unanimous vote by the Democratic Policy Committee in the Senate against sanctions. Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, and other members of his party already have expressed opposition to sanctions.

2. A declaration by Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon that sanctions would be demanded in the U.N. Thursday and he hoped the United States would support the move.

U.S. Stands To Lose Gains

Malik spent an hour with Asst. Secretary of State William Rountree going over the Arab position. Afterwards he told reporters:

"In the opinion of the whole Arab world, and indeed of the whole world, Israel must withdraw unconditionally."

Malik also said gains scored by American diplomacy after the Anglo-French invasion of Egypt "stand in danger of being dissipated if the United States does not exert enough pressure to seek withdrawal of Israel."

Eisenhower went directly from the airport to the White House to grapple with the multiplying Middle Eastern problems. Waiting for him there was Secretary of State Dulles, who earlier in the day had given Israel assurances that the United States considers the Gulf of Aqaba an international waterway.

The Democratic decision on sanctions was announced in the Senate by Majority Leader Johnson of Texas. He said the policy committee voted to ask that the U.S. delegation to the U.N. oppose any move to impose economic penalties on Israel, while other nations which have ignored U.N. orders go unpunished.

Dulles considered the Gulf of Aqaba at his news conference. Since it is an international waterway, he said, Egypt has no right to interfere with the innocent passage of Israeli ships, American vessels or those of other nations.

He added he expects U.S. ships will go through the Straits of Tiran the Gulf's bottleneck entrance at the southern tip of the Sinai Peninsula, without being stopped.

Dulles said Israel has the same right as soon as she pulls her troops out of Sharm el Sheikh, where Egyptian guns had commanded the straits, and the Gaza Strip at the other end of the embattled Israeli-Egyptian border.

Johnson told the Senate he had asked for the guidance of his party's Senate leadership in advance of a White House conference tomorrow on the Middle East question.

Economy Axe Aimed At 'K-9'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Army's dogs, known as the "K-9 Corps," may fall victim to a Pentagon economy drive.

The same Defense Department office which tried to substitute motor hearses for horses in military funerals is now campaigning to get rid of the dogs.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, who successfully protested against doing away with the funeral horses, was told of the proposed move to demobilize the dogs.

He threw up his hands and said, "no comment."

The Army has 950 dogs which it uses for scout and sentry duty. It also trains 50 dogs a month for the Air Force. The dogs, German shepherds, cost up to $125 each and are given up to 15 weeks of training.

The anti-dog faction claims it costs $8,000 to train each one.

New Parking Plan Easier On Drivers

ALBANY, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—The exasperating problem of parking today's long automobiles may be relieved by a parking scheme dreamed up by Albany City Engineer Wayne M. McAuley.

McAuley proposed parking cars parallel to the curb, in units of two.

The City Council last night ordered the city's parking spots repainted to put the system into operation. The city will have the same number of parking spaces as now. It will just be easier on drivers.

As McAuley outlined his plans: Cars would be parked two together, bumper to bumper. There would be an 8-foot space ahead of and behind each, two-car parking setup. Each individual parking space would be 18 feet, longer than the longest car on the road today.

Israel Cabinet To Hear Eban On Dulles Talks

JERUSALEM, Israel Section Feb. 19 (AP)—Israel's Cabinet today called an important meeting tomorrow to hear a report from Ambassador Abba Eban on his latest talks with Secretary of State Dulles.

Eban is flying home on the summons of his government.

The Israeli Cabinet will meet on the crisis created by its refusal to pull troops out of the Gaza Strip and Sharm el Sheikh controlling the Gulf of Aqaba.

Israel seized both disputed areas from Egypt in the October-November invasion. It has refused to withdraw without firm guarantees of freedom of navigation in the gulf and protection against border raids.

As he left New York by plane, Eban told newsmen he would give his government "a fuller picture of the discussions than even the fullest cable report could convey."

It is impossible to think that every possible nuance of the discussion could be put into cables.

He said he would return to the U.S. soon to give American officials "a full report on my government's thinking," but declined to be specific as to when he would return.

The government of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion will consider Eban's report along with new proposals Ben-Gurion discussed yesterday with U.S. Ambassador Edward B. Lawson.

"Space Battles" Held Possibility By Missile Chief

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the nation's ballistic missile programs, said tonight that "space battles"—wars fought out far from earth—may become a possibility several decades from now.

"In the long haul our safety as a nation may depend upon our achieving space superiority," Schriever told an astronautics symposium sponsored by the Air Force and Convair division of General Dynamics Corp.

"Several decades from now the important battles may not be sea battles or air battles, but space battles."

"We should be spending a certain fraction of our national resources to ensure that we do not lag in obtaining space supremacy."

Schriever is commander of the western development division of the Air Research Air Development Command at Inglewood, Calif. This division is directing development of two Inter-Continental Ballistic Missiles—the Atlas and the Titan—designed to demolish targets 5,000 miles away and a 1,500-mile-range missile, the Thor.

Dynamite Blast Marks Concert

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 19 (AP)—A dynamite explosion reverberated tonight through a municipal building where Negro Louie Armstrong's band was playing a concert to a segregated, white and Negro audience.

The blast, apparently from a single stick of dynamite tossed from a passing car, tore a four-foot hole in mud about 200 feet from the building. Otherwise, it did no damage and barely disrupted the concert as the noise echoed through Chilhowee Park Administration Building.

Refugee Says Soviet Mock War Exposed Weakness

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—A refugee Hungarian general testified today that Soviet Defense Minister Zhukov directed a mock Communist attack on the West last year and wasn't happy with the results.

The Hungarian, Maj. Gen. Bela Kiraly, said Zhukov felt the war games had exposed glaring weaknesses in Soviet and satellite armies, particularly lack of mechanization and mobility.

Zhukov, he said, threatened to demote even "hero" generals if they didn't keep in step with changing patterns of warfare.

Kiraly, a commander of Hungarian freedom fighters in the October revolution, testified before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

He said the Russians reached "depths of treachery" in crushing the revolt. He said they used military measures illegal under the terms of the Warsaw Pact which binds satellite armies with those of Russia.

Kiraly, who told his story earlier to a United Nations commission, said Imre Nagy, Hungarian Premier during the uprising, never called for Russian troops to battle the freedom fighters. He said the call was made by Erno Gero, "a well known MVD (secret police) agent."

Much of the public hearing was conducted with no senator present. Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) presided at the start but later turned over the reins to subcommittee counsel Robert Morris.

Under questioning by Morris, Kiraly said Russia since 1948 has considered Hungary a primary "base of aggression against the West."

Actress Marta Toren Dies In Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 19 (AP)—A sudden brain hemorrhage took the life of one of Sweden's most successful film beauties today.

Marta Toren, 30-year-old star known to millions of movie fans as "The Eyes," died less than 48 hours after she was stricken following a performance of the J. B. Priestley play "Mr. Kelly and Mrs. Monn" at Stockholm's Alle Theater. She was a close friend of actress Ingrid Bergman.

At her bedside was her husband, Leonardo Bercovi. He is a director and film writer. The couple's 4-year-old daughter, Kristina, was reported to be in London, where Miss Toren planned film work after her appearance here.

AMA Prexy Asserts Man Often Kills Self By Neglect

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—"Man does not just die; he usually kills himself" through neglect of his health, Dr. Dwight H. Murray, president of the American Medical Assn., declared tonight.

"He fails to live within his resources of strength, both physical and mental. He doesn't take a day-by-day concern for his own well-being. Even doctors are guilty of this."

"But how can anyone afford to be apathetic about his health if he wants to live long, happy, and free from disease?"

Speaking at a banquet marking the 150th anniversary of the New York State Medical Society, Dr. Murray said "personal responsibility is the first requirement for good health."

"Who is to blame when a person fails to obtain the safe and effective polio shots? Who is to blame when early symptoms of cancer are ignored? Who is to blame when a weak heart is overtaxed? Indeed, who is to blame when doctors' instructions and medications are ignored or when recognized illnesses are neglected?"

Dr. Murray said "Today medical progress is far ahead of the public's willingness to seek medical attention or help. Unless the public catches up with medicine and science and uses the facilities available, medical progress will bring only a fraction of the benefits possible."

"Apathy over polio has been so bad that a few weeks ago the AMA called in representatives from all the states and territories to launch a program to get the entire population, particularly those up to age 40, inoculated with the Salk vaccine."

Compensation Bill Clears W. Va. House Planes' Rockets Hit Lighthouse

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 19 (AP)—A union supported bill to liberalize the Workmen's Compensation law, its original provisions crimped only slightly by amendments, was passed by the House today after another short debate.

The vote on the bill, which now goes to the Senate, was 62-34. Fifty Democrats and 12 Republicans voted for the bill, while six Democrats and 28 Republicans opposed it.

Del. Davis (D-Kanawha), who was largely unsuccessful yesterday in attempts to amend the bill into more conservative form, said in today's debate that the measure would "strap on the backs of one segment of our industry between three and five million dollars of additional burden."

He said the added cost to compensation subscribers would discourage new industry and enterprise capital.

One of those who argued for the bill, Finance Chairman Cline (D-Mingo), said that over the years compensation rates for injured workers have not increased "in proportion to the raise in wages."

Cline observed also that participation in the program is voluntary with employees.

The bill was proposed by the West Virginia Joint Labor Committee, representing all major segments of organized labor in the state. Prior to amendments yesterday which brought the figure slightly downward, the Workmen's Compensation Department estimated it would add about 3½ million dollars to the annual cost of the employer-supported program.

The House also gave its approval, by a 90-6 margin, to a 472-page bill to revise completely the state's insurance laws.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

The Senate, at a forenoon session, passed a flock of bills including two of the so-called self-help education measures to enable counties which so desire to tap new revenues for school purposes.

None of the four Coast Guardsmen in the lighthouse was injured, the Coast Guard said. An early report said one received minor scratches but this was not confirmed.

The propeller-driven planes, part of an all-weather squadron based at the Naval Air Station at Atlantic City, were to make an attack on a common Navy target, a submerged ship about four miles west of the lighthouse.

One plane dropped flares. The other two made two passes at what they thought was their target, firing five-inch practice rockets.

The rockets—none carrying explosives—hit in front of the lighthouse and ricocheted into it, tearing at least three gaping holes about 18 inches in diameter in the frame siding.

Other rockets slammed into the steel beams supporting the building, completely severing several and bending others.

The four guardsmen were evacuated, but the light burned throughout the night. Its purpose is to warn shipping of the shallow water over which it is located.

Adlai Backs Doctrine

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said today that he would support the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine if he were a member of the U. S. Senate.

Pump Patent Held 11-Story Building Collapses In Rio

WATERBURY, Conn., Feb. 19 (AP)—George Metesky, the Waterbury bachelor under indictment as New York's "Mad Bomber," invented a pump and was assigned a patent for it by the U. S. Patent Office on Sept. 23, 1941.

On Sept. 24, 1941, New York police say, Metesky set off the second of 32 bombs in a grudge war against the Consolidated Edison Co. of New York.

The Waterbury American reported Metesky's invention—called an electric solenoid pump—today after checking with the Patent Office.

The American said it could not determine whether Metesky ever sold his invention.

Huge Missiles Tower Unveiled

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 19 (AP)—A weird looking steel tower described as capable of handling "any guided missile now under consideration" was unveiled here today.

The tower was built for the U. S. Army by the Noble Co. of Oakland and is destined to go to Patrick Air Force Base near Orlando, Fla., for testing and servicing guided missiles.

Company officials, describing the tower at a news conference, said they did not know what kind of missiles would be handled by the equipment.

Asked if it was big enough to handle an Inter-Continental Ballistics Missile, they said the tower was "highly versatile and probably could accommodate any missile now under consideration."

The tower, 120 feet high, normally stands upright but can be tilted slowly to the horizontal. In that position it splits down the middle to receive a missile, closes and rises to the vertical.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Feb. 19 (AP)—The condition of a 16-year-old Buckhannon-Upshur High School girl shot by a disappointed suitor remained critical today.

Mick's statement to police told how he approached the girl, who was with two other men in the restaurant. When she refused to go with him, Mick shot her four times with a .25 calibre weapon, the statement said.

New Plan Of "Sunday Mass Missions" Makes Hit In Roman Catholic Parishes

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Glowing reactions have come from churches that have used it. "But it's a radical departure," Father Finley said. "There never has been any kind of parish mission but the standard one in this country before."

Despite the unfamiliarity, however, requests for the new-type mission services, which include an expanded-week-day procedure for rejuvenating parish life, have piled up from churches across the country.

"The new approach is a means of reaching our people on the schedule that city life has imposed on them," says the Rev. John Carlin, pastor of St. Paul the Apostle church, New York City, which tried the new method.

The innovation comes at a time when Catholic churches are concentrating more on preaching missions to pump new fervor into parish life.

Pope Pius XII, in recent addresses, has stressed anew the importance of effective preaching.

Father Finley said that most parishes nowadays average holding a preaching mission every other year—in contrast to the past when these special revival services were scheduled only about every 10 years.

In Protestant churches, preaching characteristically has been the main means for guiding their flocks, while Catholic pastors rely more on the confessional and personal contact.

Regular sermons at Sunday Mass in Catholic churches, dealing with the day's Gospel message, are necessarily short, since Mass is usually given at frequent morning intervals for the coming-and-going worshippers.

But changes in American community living, the rapid turnover in residence, the fluidity of parish makeup and weakening of intimate neighborhood ties, especially in cities, has made personal contact more difficult.

So the sermon—to the Catholic congregation—has become more vital.

Top-flight traveling preachers, from the mission bands of a score of Catholic orders, go to parishes to conduct the missions. About 1,000 of these mission priests keep on the road most of the time from fall to spring to do the work.

But one of the big problems has been to get more people to attend the mission sermons. Reports show that on the average only about 50 to 60 per cent of the Sunday Mass-attenders get to the week-night sermons.

"This 50 to 60 per cent who do not make the mission are precisely the ones to whom the mission should be given," Father Finley said.

Modern activities—cars, movies, television, as well as jobs—keep many away, he added.

"If the change could not be made in the attitude and condition of the people," he added, "then the change must be made in the mission technique."

His solution: give the mission sermons on consecutive Sundays, at all Masses, thus reaching 100 per cent of those who come to Mass. And missing Sunday Mass is deemed a sin.

Customary mission sermon subjects covered on succeeding Sundays are: 1. Salvation, 2. Sin, 3. Death and judgment, 4. Mercy, and 5. Perseverance.

Father Finley, 41, a native of Jersey City, N.J., doesn't expect the new method to take the place of the old-style mission entirely, but he says:

"It offers more possibilities for the more needy, the tepid, the cool souls to be 'caught' by the mission talks."

The new method, first tested by him at St. Peter's church, Toronto, Canada, has since been used at parishes in several New York State communities, in San Francisco, Toledo, Milwaukee, Clifton, N.J., and elsewhere.

Father Finley currently is conducting one at St. Joseph's parish, Toms River, N.J.

Action Sought Against Sub-Standard Housing Conditions In Washington Co.

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 19 (AP)—Delegates Berkson and Porter are concerned about sub-standard housing conditions in their Washington County.

They took action on two legislative fronts today. First they introduced a bill to authorize the County Commission to spend $5,000 to survey conditions. They also proposed a resolution to ask the governor to appoint a study commission.

In the request for the commission, Berkson and Porter said a large number of sub-standard houses exist in the county to the detriment of the occupants. They said "it is apparent" that agencies "established to deal with these problems have not offered a satisfactory solution to the existing situation."

The delegates recommended the commission be composed of representatives from the offices of the Washington County State's attorney, County Commission, Juvenile Court and the Community Chest and the State Departments of Welfare and Health and the General Assembly.

Tips aren't enough guarantee of pay to employees, two Baltimore City delegates contend. A bill to make it illegal to hire persons dependent solely on "the generosity of the public" was introduced by Dels. Hodges and W. J. Myers.

A bill that started out to be a State income tax loser has turned into a potential tax raiser.

Officers of the U. S. Public Health Service had asked they be given the same $1,500 exemption extended to members of the military forces.

Benjamin F. Marsh, chief of the Income Tax Division, not only opposed it. He recommended the exemption be taken away from members of the armed forces except in time of war or while in a combat area or zone.

He convinced the House Ways and Means Committee and they introduced such a bill.

A convicted criminal can't appeal now if he thinks the sentence of a circuit court judge is too harsh. Sen. Goodman of Baltimore is urging a Legislative Council study to consider changing the law.

His resolution said Judge Simon Sobeloff of the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals and Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune of the Maryland Court of Appeals favor it.

The yucca has a thorn like steel. In fertile Mexico, the plant turns into a tree with dull blade endings.

M'Keldin Urged Not To Appoint 4th D'Alesandro

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19 (AP)—Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore attorney often critical of the city administration, today messaged Gov. McKeldin it would be "scandalous" if he appointed another member of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro's family to the public payroll.

It was reported in Annapolis that the governor, a Republican, was ready to appoint Thomas D'Alesandro III as the Democratic member of the city's Board of Supervisors of Elections.

Pressman's telegram to McKeldin, which Pressman made public, said in part: "Three members of the D'Alesandro family are already on the public payroll. Thomas Jr. as mayor; Hector, deputy clerk of City Court; Roosevelt, assistant to register of wills."

"Feeding of a fourth member of the family at the public trough would be more than political nepotism; it would be scandalous."

The three board members are appointed by the governor. Because McKeldin is a Republican, there are two GOP members on the board, with the third a Democrat.

The one Democrat on the board would be in a key position in city politics, for he would have much to say as to which Democrats serve as judges and clerks at some 500 polling places.

McKeldin's appointments are due to go to the Senate tomorrow.

Assessments "Frozen"

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 19 (AP)—uniformity of assessments, the view would cause some properties to be increased in assessable value and others to be decreased, with some remaining where they are now.

The last time the county's assessments were changed, the Board of County Commissioners was swamped with requests for appeal hearings.

Not wanting to go through that again, they placed the ceiling on most assessments.

The commissioners acted after Assessor Simon Clapper appeared to explain the annual review of property assessments required by law. He told them that in seeking Anders died early today in Frederick Memorial Hospital of what police said was a self-inflicted bullet wound. Police Chief Charles V. Main said Anders shot himself with a .38 caliber pistol shortly after parking his car in the Ideal Garage Monday.

Envoy Warned Hitler U.S. Would Fight To Prevent Allied Defeat

By GEOFFREY MILLER

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Adolf Hitler was warned by the German envoy in Washington less than a week before the outbreak of World War II the United States would intervene "if Britain and France are in danger of being defeated."

This is disclosed in captured German Foreign Office documents published by the British government today.

German envoy Hans Thomsen told Hitler that at the proper time the American people "will be brought ruthlessly, by every possible means, to the required state of mind for intervention."

Thomsen's telegram, dated Aug. 28, 1939, said President Franklin D. Roosevelt "will do all he can to prevent the defeat of Britain and France, and to bring about the downfall of the totalitarian systems of government, especially that of Germany."

Thomsen said the United States would resort to intervention:

"1. If Britain and France are in danger of being defeated;

"2. Presumably, also, if there is an assured prospect of a final Anglo-French victory.

"(But) the dispatch of considerable American armed forces to the European theater of war in less than a year from the outbreak of war is technically impossible."

Another document quoted Lord Halifax as saying in 1938 he hoped to see Hitler enter London beside King George VI "amid the acclamations of the English people."

Lord Halifax was Britain's foreign secretary at the time. He served in that job under Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain from 1938 to 1940 and later was ambassador to the United States.

The documents were published by the British Government Printing Office as Volume VII of a series on German foreign policy.

A Foreign Office spokesman commented: "These accounts stand as German records. Naturally we cannot vouch for the accuracy of the German documents of mind for intervention."

Officers said an ordinary 42-gallon water tank outside the kitchen contained moonshine whisky. A pipe led under the kitchen sink to a valve which could direct either water or whisky to the spigot.

The plumber, Nelson Eldson, was charged with possession of moonshine whisky and released under $500 bond.

ments."

Lord Halifax, now living in Yorkshire, was not available for comment.

The accuracy of documents contained in previous volumes has been questioned by some British students. They speculated Hitler's underlings deliberately manufactured optimistic reports to stay on his good side.

The latest papers also report a telegram from Hitler to the Duke of Windsor relating Hitler's "desire to avoid another war" between Germany and Britain.

Windsor's attorneys issued this statement in London today:

"The duke wishes it to be known that on Aug. 27, 1939 he sent, entirely on his own initiative, telegrams to both Hitler and the king of Italy imploring them for the sake of humanity to use their influence to prevent the outbreak of war. Hitler's telegram was sent to the duke in reply."

The captured documents cover Hitler's plans to plunge Europe into war and put the blame on Poland.

He is recorded as having told his chiefs of staff Aug. 24, 1939: "I shall give a propagandist reason for starting the war, no matter whether it is plausible or not. The victor will not be asked afterward whether he told the truth or not."

"When starting or waging a war it is not right that matters but victory. Close your hearts pity."

Records of talks between Joachim von Ribbentrop and Josef Stalin in Moscow in August 1939 quote the German foreign minister as saying: "England is weak and wants to let others fight for her presumptuous claim to world domination."

Stalin eagerly agreed, the German report says, but he thought Britain, despite her weakness, would "wage war craftily and stubbornly."

Whisky On Tap Leads To Arrest

GASTONIA, N. C., Feb. 19.—Sheriff's officers arrested a 35-year-old plumber here on whisky charges this weekend after they found in his home a kitchen spigot that would mix its own drinks.

Officers said an ordinary 42-gallon water tank outside the kitchen contained moonshine whisky. A pipe led under the kitchen sink to a valve which could direct either water or whisky to the spigot.

The plumber, Nelson Eldson, was charged with possession of moonshine whisky and released under $500 bond.

Simulated Ship Of Space To Be Developed Soon

By VERN HAUGLAND

Associated Press Aviation Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 19.—Air Force plans for a simulated space ship, in which men may find out what it is like 200 miles above the earth without leaving the ground, were disclosed yesterday.

Dr. Richard Roche, head of the research department of Litton Industries, Beverly Hills, Calif., said his company had been developing the unprecedented altitude chamber for 3½ years, and planned to make it available to the Air Force Office of Scientific Research in April or May.

Roche told an astronautics symposium—a gathering of 600 rocket and missile experts — that the simulated space laboratory would include an entry way 8 by 13 feet, and a vacuum chamber 15 by 35 feet.

Safety controls would restore normal conditions inside a chamber within two seconds in an emergency.

Roche said the man or men in the chamber would wear a special suit pressurized to five pounds per square inch of oxygen, "about the same as putting him inside a football."

Roche said that without this pressurization the space pilot could not move at all, could not even flex a finger.

Should the equipment fail, a man would remain conscious only five seconds, and would die within minutes without the safety controls.

Earlier, a top official of Convair division of General Dynamics Corp. said the cost of putting a four-man space ship into its space orbit was estimated at 350 million dollars.

Effort To Prove Man Dead Fails

MEMPHIS, Feb. 19.—An effort to prove to the government that Arthur Wright is dead ended in failure yesterday—22 days and thousands of man hours after it started.

Volunteers working to save Wright's pension for his wife and six children, cleared tons of dirt from a drainage ditch cave-in—but found no body.

It was the searchers' last hope. Wilton Avant, who headed the project, said Wright's body apparently was swept on down the ditch to the Wolf River, which empties into the Mississippi.

Wright, 36, a disabled veteran, disappeared Jan. 27 while crossing the 40-foot deep ditch. He was presumed drowned.

Mrs. Wright said the Veterans Administration told her that Wright's $96 a month pension, the family's main support, would be stopped until he is declared legally dead. Without evidence that takes seven years.

Rock 'n' Roll Ban Lifted

HAVANA, Feb. 19.—Communications Minister Ramon Vasconcelos—bowing to lively protests by teen-agers and TV stations — has withdrawn his ban on a Cuban TV rock 'n' roll show on the ground it would be immoral. But he has ordered that "no suggestive body movements" be displayed on Cuban TV screens.

Area Tavern Case Decision Is Withheld

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners yesterday withheld a decision for J. N. Morrissey, operator of the Mountain Museum Tavern at Eckhart, on a charge of violating the liquor laws by selling beer after hours on December 23, 1956.

Horace P. Whitworth Sr., was attorney for the board in yesterday's hearing on whether the board should suspend or revoke Morrissey's permit as the result of his conviction of selling beer after hours at a hearing in Circuit Court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Morrissey testified that he has been leaving the premises in the care of John Bean about 11 p. m. daily. He said that his health had been poor in the past few years. Morrissey said he had instructed his employee to close at midnight. Edward Willison, inspector for the board, testified that he had checked the premises on a number of occasions and that in the case of a man termed an habitual drunk frequenting the place the matter had been taken care of by Morrissey.

It was also brought out that Morrissey has many valuable antiques and curiosities in the building and that they are the attraction for patrons. Morrissey testified that since 1938, when he went into business, he has never been found guilty of violating the liquor laws until the recent occurrence.

William A. Gunter was counsel for Morrissey and requested the board to be lenient on his client in view of his physical condition. He said the Circuit Court had shown leniency on the same grounds in handing down a suspended sentence in the case.

Board Gets Requests Of Citizens

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received a number of requests yesterday.

J. W. McDonald, secretary of the District 16 Volunteer Fire Company, wrote the board to ask that the road into the new fire hall off the Oldtown Road be repaired. J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, said he had tried to contact someone at the fire hall last week to no avail.

The Midland Parent-Teacher Association wrote the board that the organization is in favor of a mobile library system for the county. The letter was signed by Mrs. Melvin T. Loar, corresponding secretary of the PTA unit.

Residents of Rockview Drive, located off U. S. Route 40 in the vicinity of the Six Mile House, wrote the board asking for repairs to the road. The roadway is about four-tenths of a mile in length. The matter was referred to Chapman.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson introduced a statement in which he voiced the opinion that the Friends Aware of Handicapped Children be given $1,000.

Wilkinson said he understands also that a bill providing for a merit system among Allegany County employees has been drawn up. He said he wants to see a copy of such a bill before making any decision.

Rev. John B. Zinn, pastor of St. Matthews Evangelical and Reformed Church at Bowling Green, and Grayson Sullivan, appeared before the board to ask that something be done about water running onto church property. The matter has been referred to Chapman and G. Bates Chaires, district State Roads Commission engineer, for investigation.

Sears Employees' Investment In Firm Is High

Fifty-one employees of the Cumberland Sears store were notified yesterday they now have a total investment of $223,734 in "The Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck and Company Employees."

The announcement of the local store's holdings was made by C. W. Seasholtz, store manager, at a meeting of the employee-members. At this meeting the employees received their annual statements showing the extent to which they shared in the company's profits last year and the present value of their individual accounts.

As of December 31, 1956, local fund members had 5,590 shares of Sears stock and additional securities and cash amounting to $63,022 to their credit, Seasholtz said. Taking the year-end market value of $28.75 per share for the Sears stock and adding the cash and miscellaneous investments bring the group's total investment to $223,734.

All regular employees with one year of service are eligible for membership in the "Savings and Profit Sharing Fund of Sears, Roebuck and Company Employees," and today nearly 130,000 employees are members of the fund.

Plumbing Bill Support Being Sought

The Master Plumbers Association of Allegany County yesterday asked the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to reconsider its action on an enabling act for a plumbing inspector in this county.

W. Earle Cobey, attorney for the association, appeared before the board again yesterday with a revised bill that would have the General Assembly authorizing the commissioners to appoint an inspector.

In a statement, Cobey pointed out that the association has taken cognizance of the initial proposal and has revised the bill turned down earlier by the commissioners.

The statewide plumbing law enacted in 1910 provides that all plumbing work must be done by a licensed plumber, he emphasized.

The attorney general has ruled that this does not apply to a householder making repairs on his own home, Cobey remarked. The revised enabling act requested by the association does not place any new burden on the homeowner or builder as has been assumed by some, he added.

The interest of the association in this legislation and the appointment of a plumbing inspector, he declared, is to protect the public health.

Plumbing installations made in the last few years in violation of the state plumbing code have resulted in highway and private property conditions that are a menace to the health of the community, Cobey maintained.

Proper inspection of these facilities would have prevented this, the association spokesman declared.

Cobey declared the county plumbers association, contrary to opinions of some opponents of the bill, does not want to create a monopoly on this work.

To remove this suspicion, he explained, the association proposes to amend the state law on plumbing that says all work must be done by a licensed plumber.

This will permit any person to install plumbing, Cobey said, and the only requirement will be that it must be properly installed to conform to the state plumbing code.

The bill would have nothing to do with existing plumbing facilities unless complaints are made to the Board of Health and the facilities are found to constitute health menaces.

Only new construction or a substantial addition would require inspection, — not minor repairs and replacements, he added.

The bill also provides for an appeal of the inspection with the Board of Health.

A setup of inspection fees would easily take care of the inspector's salary, he added. There would be no added tax burden on the county taxpayer, Cobey concluded.

William H. Lemmert, president of the county commissioners, said the board would take the bill under consideration, and attempt to answer the association before the commissioners meet with the Allegany County delegates on Tuesday in Annapolis.

Animal Society Seeking Action On Stray Dogs

Four representatives of the Allegany County Animal Welfare Society appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to present a proposal for handling stray dogs and cases of cruelty to animals.

They are M. D. Reinhart, William Barkdoll, Mrs. Helen Wise and Mrs. Robert Boniece. The commissioners were asked to support a plan whereby the society would provide quarters for stray dogs and other animals and also handle the sale of dog tags. The group would also be empowered to name wardens to handle the stray dogs.

Barkdoll said that under the plan the society would seek legislation for the program in Allegany County. The society would accept full responsibility for handling the situation. The commissioners would be furnished an audit of all funds received from dog tag sales and also operate the quarters for stray dogs and other animals.

Barkdoll said it would be a good idea to have the legislation drawn up so that it would be countywide and the stray dog problem of the various communities within the county would be handled by the society.

Commissioners William H. Lemmert, James Orr and Charles N. Wilkinson voiced their approval of such a plan. They said that they would have Gorman Getty, attorney to the board, meet with the society's attorney to draw up a rough draft of the proposed legislation.

Barkdoll said the legislation should be drawn up no later than March 1 so that the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly could obtain action on the bill at this session of the legislature.

The group said they would meet again with the county board on Thursday. The board meeting is being held that day because Washington's birthday falls on the regular Friday meeting date.

Bond Discussion Is Planned Thursday

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday he has asked members of Council to attend a meeting Thursday at 3:30 p. m. to discuss a $500,000 bond issue which will go to its second reading next Monday.

The issue, "Cumberland Urban Development Bonds of 1957" went through its first reading Monday but final action was deferred at the request of some council members who wanted a "unanimity" of thought about how proceeds from the bond sale should be used.

Air Safety Rules Go Into Effect

The Civil Aeronautics Board puts its new air safety regulations into effect today. The principal innovation is a requirement that all civil and military test flights be conducted over open waters or areas designated as "sparsely populated" by Civil Aeronautics Administration. The new regulations stem in part from the mid-air collision on January 31 of a DC-7 airliner and an Air Force F-89 jet fighter being tested over Pacoima, Calif. Eight persons lost their lives as a result of that crash.

Recent airline accidents have led to an investigation by the House Commerce Committee. But the problem is by no means new. A special study group set up by the U. S. Budget Bureau recommended in a report filed more than a year ago that the Defense Department's $3 billion air defense radar system (SAGE) be adapted to provide traffic control of civilian as well as of military planes. Civilian aircraft, said the report, had been involved in more than 65 mid-air collisions since 1950.

Congress voted the CAA $40 million last year to initiate a new five-year program to provide a "modernized . . . air traffic control system . . . to keep pace with the problems of the jet age."

The plan calls for introduction—between July 1, 1956 and July 1, 1961—of 69 long-range radar facilities; short-range airport surveillance radar facilities at 44 additional airports; airport surface detection installations at 20 places; and radar beacons at 134 locations.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

On Various Authorities

Like all institutions, the Public Authority is a device of government which has some excellent features but which occasionally requires renewed study. The Authority makes it possible for governments to organize self-liquidating businesses, such as toll bridges, toll roads, toll tunnels, etc., which can be privately financed and managed efficiently without politics.

The Authority becomes a menace when it rejects the concepts of self-liquidation but instead amasses its surpluses until it is able to undertake all sorts of projects, some of them of doubtful validity. It also becomes a menace when it arranges for charters which are so broad that the Authority arrogantly rejects any review of its conduct by courts and places itself altogether beyond the law, acting arbitrarily in all matters.

The State of New York has made a study of the Public Authority through the Temporary State Commission on Coordination of State Activities—a very long name which ought to be more accurately descriptive of what the Commission actually does. As this state has created more than 100 Public Authorities, they are important and this seems to be a very thorough study of the subject. While it is not possible to lump all Authorities under one rule or one criticism because each is different, it is possible to recognize that the time has come to find a common denominator so that they perform their functions solely to the advantage of the citizen.

The first Authority developed in this region is the Port of New York Authority which came into existence in 1921 to solve the problems of this port which includes two states, New York and New Jersey. It would be impossible to say that the Port of New York Authority has not done constructive work in the reorganization of the railroad terminal system, the building of bridges and tunnels, and the development of the airports in this area. But it is not a popular body because it is arrogant and difficult to do business with except on its own terms.

One of the outstanding advantages of the Authority is that it is possible to finance improvements without increasing taxes. By the use of the toll and other fees, the Authority finances itself, getting its revenue from users and not from the general public. Its tolls also provide the means for amortizing the indebtedness of the Authority. However, in theory the Authority should reduce its tolls and fees whenever it can afford to. The assumption that the users would benefit by having the tolls reduced has been ignored. The report asks:

" . . . Just what direct benefit the automobile drivers on the Port of New York Authority's George Washington Bridge obtain from the improvement of this authority's Newark docks is not apparent. Unquestionably the driver does benefit from the bridge and its approaches and from the integrated program of highway and crossing development sponsored and carried forward by the Port of New York Authority. However, his benefit from the Newark docks is only that which any taxpayer generally receives from government public works of this sort. . . ."

In a word, the toll becomes a tax on the use of the facilities and this was never intended. There surely ought to be a provision for the reduction of tolls in the interest of the users in some ratio to the amortization of the indebtedness.

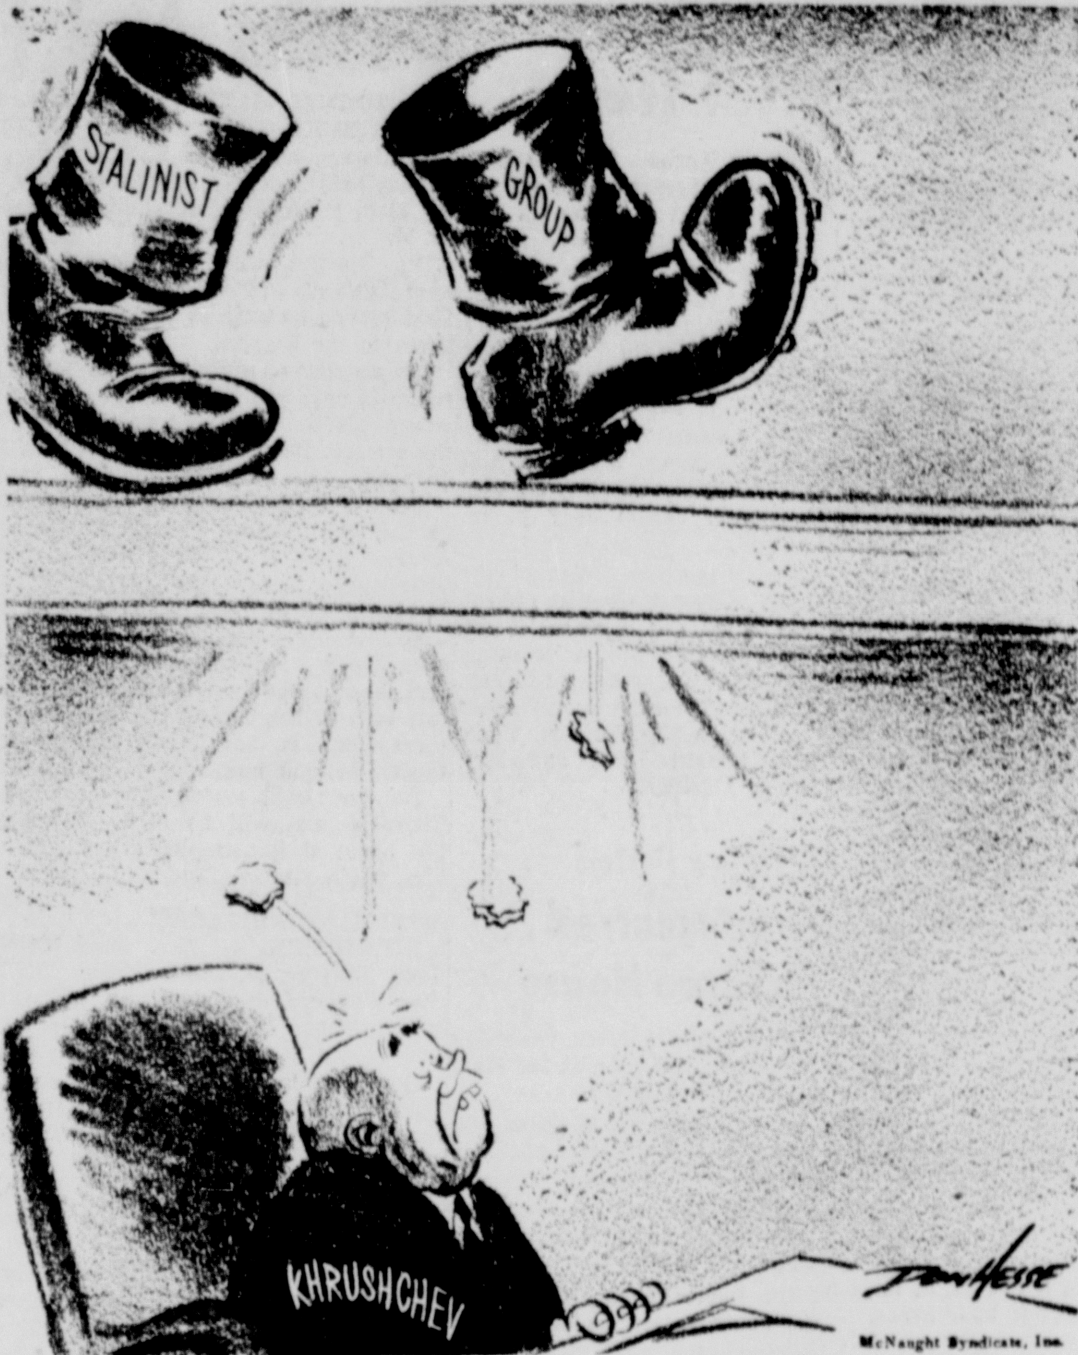

The principal objection to the Authorities is that some of their charters place them above the law, subject to no judicial review of their conduct. They are controlled by administrative law which can be arbitrary and is particularly dangerous without judicial review. The Port of New York Authority maintains its own police force which is undoubtedly necessary because of the two-state jurisdiction of this body.

The Authority seems to be a workable intermediate device between government ownership and private ownership. On the whole it is doing well and while an effort might be made to have all the laws and regulations uniform, it does not seem logical that that should be so because of the different purposes of each Authority, the varieties of geographical location and the fact that an Authority may overlap two states or even two countries, as, let us say, in relationship to Canada.

What needs to be improved is the attitude of the Authority toward the user of its facilities and the need for judicial review as to its conduct.

Boots, Boots — Marching Up And Down Again

'Modern Republicanism' Isn't The New Deal

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON In the six weeks during which the 85th Congress has been in session, a significant pattern has become evident. There are big differences between the majority Democrats and the Administration on foreign policy—bigger than ever before. But there are really no basic domestic issues at all which are in dispute between the Administration and the Democratic party as a whole.

The plain fact is that the dominant northern wing of the Democratic party is absolutely desperate for a vote-winning issue, and for a simple reason. In every domestic area where they might have hoped to make votes—schools, health, social security, the soil bank, roads, civil rights, and so on—the Administration has forestalled them with its program of "modern Republicanism."

The Eisenhower administration, in fact, has now consciously accepted the basic thesis of the dominant wing of the Democratic party—that the Federal government is responsible for the general welfare. Marion Folsom, the able, conservative-minded Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said as much in a recent little noted but important speech:

"We say the Federal government would fail to serve the people's interest if it stood idly by, indifferent to broad deficiencies in health, education, or economic security . . . we believe the Federal government . . . can and should act in these fields for the benefit of all the people."

Four years ago, when the Eisenhower administration took office with a domestic program which differed in no important respect from the program of the late Sen. Taft, such a flat, unequivocal acceptance of the basic thesis of the welfare state would have been considered a major heresy.

One would have expected a thunderbolt to strike a Republican Cabinet officer who boasted, as Folsom did in the same speech, that "the level of Federal activities in (the welfare fields) is higher than ever before." Yet what Folsom said was true. His $3 billion budget makes Oscar Ewing, his left wing equivalent in the Truman Administration, look like a piker.

By the same token, four years ago one would have expected Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to prefer being struck by a thunderbolt to degrading a program first proposed in essence, amidst hoots of derision, by Henry Wallace. Yet the enormously costly soil bank scheme is such a program.

Four years ago, the Eisenhower Administration line was the budget would and could be held to $60 billion. Instead, Federal spending in the non-defense field increased by $7 billion in the first four Eisenhower budgets. Four years ago, the talk was all about getting rid of "the New Deal deadwood" in the government. Yet the total number of "government bureaucrats" outside the Defense Department is actually higher under Eisenhower than Truman.

Such facts suggest why the liberal Democrats have hardly anything left to talk about. Yet the Democrats italicize the fact this is the first time the Republicans packed the White House and lost the Senate and lower House.

Didn't a Democrat named Madison lose all three to a fellow by the name of Ross in 1814?

It was rumored Ross carried a torch for Dolly. Just missed giving her the hot-foot.

The Executive Mansion was rebuilt in 1818 with blank spaces to be filled in by Truman's porches. Harry was in the same fix as the tail chauffeur on a hook-and-ladder. His only method of protest was to swing wide on the turns. Harry had no more say-so in Congress than a rabbit in Danbury. But he managed to keep his left hand from knowing what his right hand was doing. Including both politics and the piano.

It's not so much working both ends against the middle. It's more working the middle against all the ends like an octopus.

Hoarseness Often Proves To Be Psychosomatic

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Hoarseness is due usually to laryngitis from a cold or from yelling or talking too much. When it lasts longer than three weeks, thorough examination is in order to determine whether tumor exists. Nervous disorders also cause laryngitis, even to the point of not being able to speak above a whisper.

In the magazine, Talk, Dr. Linwood Heaver described a man who could not talk and was convinced he had no voice. This chap had been employed for many years by an aggressive and domineering boss who overloaded him with work and never gave him the slightest recognition for his efforts.

The employee caught a severe cold that settled in his larynx, which left him hoarse temporarily. While convalescing at home, he worried constantly about his job. He was almost 50, had a family to support, was slightly in debt, and knew what he might be fired unless he recovered completely and soon.

Two days before he was to return to work, hoarseness returned. A few days later, he received his severance pay. This was the beginning of one consultation after another with throat specialists. They scrutinized his vocal cords from every angle and were unable to find the slightest abnormality.

The man visited neurologists who were unable to detect a disorder of the nervous system, such as weakness or paralysis of the muscles of the voice box. He finally consented to see a psychiatrist, who convinced him his trouble was psychosomatic.

The original cold was the trigger that set off the emotional illness and amplified the intense anxiety about his job and boss. Losing his voice was an unconscious face saving device, as it offered an excellent excuse for staying home from work. When a psychiatrist was able to convince him he needed a different job, his voice promptly returned to normal.

The vocal cords and the emotions are related in various ways. The tone and pitch vary, depending upon whether the individual is calm, irritated, sad, excited, or bored. The voice also betrays the person who is elated, fearful, hostile, or in love. Some of us are more vulnerable than others to these differences in mood. In this respect, it is not always what is said but how.

Ike, Marshall Saved Army Horses For Fort Myer Military Funerals

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A lot of people had a hand in saving the seventeen Army funeral horses at Ft. Myer, Va., including General George C. Marshall and a little girl in Wayne, Maine. But the man who really saved them was the Commander-in-Chief, Dwight D. Eisenhower. Here is the inside story of what happened.

The man who chiefly wanted to get rid of the horses was the Secretary of Defense, Charles E. Wilson, who has spent his life building horseless carriages and who is definitely anti-horse. He also has a mad on against the Veterinarian Corps, and ordered a survey of all the animals in the Army to see how many were really needed and why we needed any vets to care for them.

The survey showed 116 horses, 314 mules, and 950 dogs left in the Army. It also showed that horse-drawn funerals were considerably more expensive than motorized hearses. At this point and without waiting for an order from Secretary Wilson, General Wilkison Palmer, vice chief of staff, ordered the end of horse-drawn funerals at Ft. Myer. General Maxwell Taylor, the Army's chief of staff, was absent at the time.

The reason General Palmer moved without an OK from above, according to Pentagon sources, is that he knew Secretary Wilson was anti-horse. His Pentagon critics also claim that General Palmer was angling for the post of chief of staff after General Taylor's retirement. At any rate, he signed the order.

Little Girl's Plea

Then came the reaction. Some of the reactions came from this column. Following its publication, Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia, potent chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, was deluged with letters. One which particularly touched Vinson came from Paula Swasey of Wayne, Me., who wrote:

"Dear Rep. Vinson: I am ten years old. I have always wanted a horse. I read in the newspaper where you might have to get rid of the 17 Army horses. If you have to get rid of them, I would like to have one.

"I would take good care of it because I love horses.

"Sincerely yours,

PAULA SWASEY"

Touched by the letter, Congressman Vinson wrote back:

"Dear Paula: I wish it were within my power to give one of the Army horses to a fine young lady like you, because I know you would give it a good home. But they are not mine to give.

"So while I regret that I cannot send you one of the horses, I'm sure that you would be just as happy if you knew that the horses would continue to be used in keeping with one of our great traditions in honor of our deceased military heroes.

"I shall do everything I can to make that possible."

Horses' Best Friend

He did. However, other potent persons were also working on behalf of the Army horses, one of them being General George C. Marshall, chief of staff and former Secretary of Defense. He called the White House and asked to speak to the man who used to take wartime orders from him.

Marshall once promoted Eisenhower from lieutenant colonel to lieutenant general in less than a year, also recommended him as commanding general for Europe. But Eisenhower didn't take his call. Marshall had to settle for General Wilton Persons, Ike's aide, whom he urged to keep the Ft. Myer horses. Persons relayed the message to the President.

At this point the President himself intervened. He ordered horse-drawn funerals at Ft. Myer continued. It was just as simple as that.

NOTE — One aftermath of the "Battle of the Ft. Myer Horses" is that General Palmer, who ordered them out of the Army, is going to be out of the Army himself. It may be reversed later, but as of this writing, the plan is to retire Palmer. He, instead of the Ft. Myer funeral horses, will be put out on pasture.

Row Over Children's Chief

Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Marion Folsom is in the middle of one of the hottest, undercover rows in Washington as a result of backtracking on the appointment of a new head of the Children's Bureau.

He had originally selected Dr. Florence Clothier, a distinguished Boston psychiatrist and expert on child problems, but reversed himself after learning of opposition from the Catholic Archdiocese of Boston. Dr. Clothier was former president of the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts which had been active in advocating birth control.

Dr. Clothier of the famous Quaker Clothier family in Philadelphia, had been strongly recommended as director of the Children's Bureau by Dr. George Berry, dean of the Harvard Medical School, a close friend and adviser of Secretary Folsom. Her appointment was on the verge of official announcement when friends of the Boston Archdiocese protested.

Her name has now been withdrawn. At first it was admitted unofficially that objection from the diocese was the reason. Following a deluge of protests to Secretary Folsom, however, this was denied. It was explained that Dr. Clothier was rejected because it was considered wise to select a social worker rather than a psychiatrist to head the Children's Bureau.

Secretary Folsom has been so bombarded with protests that he is anxious to appoint a chief of the Children's Bureau as soon as possible to end the disruption of his office. It's reported that he will appoint Mrs. Katherine Brownell Oettinger, head of the School of Social Work at Boston University. Mrs. Oettinger is a social worker. Mrs. Oettinger has even gone so far as to come to Washington to arrange for quarters for her horse.

Have you ever, when paying for something in a hurry, mistaken a $5 bill for a $1 bill? Or made a similar error in other denominations? What do you think of an idea of withdrawing all green colored currency and then issuing new notes with a different color for each denomination? That very brilliant lady, Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers, once campaigned for this idea with no success. I think it is a very good idea.

AMONG THE MARRIED

An increasing number of married couples, and those about to marry, consider four children in a family the ideal number. Are they right? Limiting births in that manner may prevent those so doing from becoming the parents of a genius. Also deprive the world in general of a genius. Ben Franklin was a tenth child. So was Coleridge. Sir Walter Scott and Thomas Gainsborough were eighth children. Johann Sebastian Bach and Sir Joshua Reynolds were seventh children. Emily Bronte was the fifth child of her parents. So were Charles Darwin, Oliver Goldsmith, Voltaire and Rembrandt.

LONGEVITY

The Bulgarians are the longest lived people in Europe. There is a record of a Bulgarian woman who, at the age of 82, was married for the first time. That's really waiting for the right man to come along. At 104 this woman was still happily married and looking forward to her silver wedding. She smoked for over 50 years and was also a moderate drinker of alcoholic liquors. She was not a vegetarian.

"What first attracts us in a woman rarely binds us to her," said Churton Collins. How right he was! His observation is something the "oomph girls" should keep in mind. A surprising number of truly beautiful ex-wives are carrying the torch for husbands they couldn't hold with their physical charm alone.

To The Editor Of The News:

I believe we should have a limited open season for killing doe in Allegany County. I am highly in favor of House Bill 176, which has been introduced in the House of Delegates in Annapolis. It would provide that antlerless deer may be hunted for a period of not more than one day during the week immediately following the open season on male deer in such counties as established by regulations of the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

It is my belief there are a number of hunting and fishing as well as other clubs in Allegany County that should support this immediately by requesting your delegates from Allegany County to give it favorable action for the protection of our small game.

Every individual hunter who does not belong to any organization should also write the delegates requesting their support of this worthwhile legislation for protecting the small game as well as increasing it.

I personally know a lot of you hunters are interested in this move. Act now. Don't pass up an opportunity to do something worthwhile then gripe about someone else taking no action later on. This also applies to every man in Allegany County owning a hunting dog.

I think our game wardens have done a wonderful job protecting and building up our deer herds to the number we have. I feel the deer are in position to hold their own now and the wardens should be relieved of their job now to concentrate on doing the same thing with our small game, particularly more propagation of game.

Elimination of some of the old doe will prevent further inbreeding and consumption of our food supplies. I believe this will prevent the reduction of our deer to billy goat size, which has happened in some areas of West Virginia.

Our fox and coon hunting, which was a great sport at one time, has dwindled to practically nothing since the deer took over 20 years ago. These dog owners had to give up in disgust when they were unable to control and prevent their dogs from running deer, which were protected by law when their dogs were not and is still not protected by the law when it runs deer.

Sincerely,

Area Woman Suffocates In Home Blaze

Husband Sent To Hospital

WESTERNPORT — A 54-year-old local woman suffocated early yesterday morning when dense smoke filled her home as the result of a fire in the living room. She was Mrs. Lesta A. McGuire, wife of Thomas V. McGuire, 39, postmaster here, who was also overcome and taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser where he was placed in an oxygen tent. He was reported in "fair" condition last night.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner of Allegany County, said Mrs. McGuire's death was caused by asphyxiation due to inhalation of smoke.

Starts In Living Room

The fire apparently started in the living room about 3 a. m. Mrs. E. J. Hill, who resides at 130 Main Street, told officials she heard Mrs. McGuire scream. Mrs. Hill called the McGuire's daughter, Mrs. Donald Twigg, who resides at 119 Main Street, and then called Potomac Fire Company No. 2 at Westernport.

The McGuire's son-in-law, Donald Twigg, was first at the scene and broke open the front door. However, intense heat and flames from the living room prevented him from getting to the stairs which led to the second floor.

When firemen arrived, Francis Jardine and Leon Dawson, members of the fire unit, entered the house. Jardine carried Mrs. McGuire from the home and Dawson brought out her unconscious husband.

Both were taken to the Hill residence. Mrs. McGuire was pronounced dead by Dr. Paul R. Wilson.

Damage Totals $2,000

The fire was confined to the living room but the house was filled with smoke firemen said. They estimated damage at $2,000 which was partially covered by insurance. The dwelling is owned by John L. Seymour Sr.

Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1 of Piedmont assisted in fighting the fire.

Mrs. McGuire was a native of Lonaconing, a daughter of the late William and Harriet (Connor) Fisher. She had resided in Westernport 30 years.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Twigg of Westernport; Mrs. William R. Patterson of Columbia, S. C.; a sister, Mrs. Frank P. Haran, Lonaconing; and three grandchildren.

The body is at the Fredlock

Church Army Man Sent To Parish In Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, announces that Robert Miller, a member of the Church Army of the Episcopal Church, has been sent to work in the Mt. Savage area by Captain Robert C. Jones, national director of the Church Army.

Mr. Miller received his secondary education at Harvard School For Boys in Chicago and was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1951 where he majored in Government and Constitutional Law. He has also completed two years of study at the Seabury Western Theological Seminary, Evanston, Ill., and a course of study under the University of Iowa Psychiatric training program. He has also served two years with the United States Army where most of his time was spent testing new Infantry weapons and ammunition.

The present plan is for Mr. Miller to spend six months in the area as head of the evangelism committee of the parish. He will be assisted in this work by Robert J. Pollock and J. Stanley Turley and other area captains. A mission is planned for the end of June at which time there will be services nightly for one week, conducted by Mr. Miller and other members of the Church Army.

The Church Army is an evangelistic and missionary society of laymen in the Episcopal Church. Founded in England in 1883, it came to America in 1927 with the prime purpose of providing a corps of laypeople to share effectively in the evangelistic work of the Church and to develop training procedures to guide all the laity in exercising their ministry in their particular area.

Another member of the Church Army, Captain Henry Howard, is presently working at the missions of the Episcopal Church in Garrett County.

Mr. Miller was officially welcomed to the parish at a coffee hour following the 10:45 a. m. service on Sunday. Mrs. Bradley T. Rice, president of St. Margaret's Chapter was in charge of arrangements.

Funeral Home, Piedmont.

McGuire is well known as a former minor league baseball player. He was a pitcher-outfielder for the Cumberland Colt team which won the Middle Atlantic League championship in 1927. He also played in the old Blue Ridge League and at one time was the property of Rochester in the International League.

After his career in organized baseball, McGuire managed area teams in the semi-pro Bi-State League.

Services for Mrs. McGuire will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. from the funeral home. Interment will be in the Frostburg Memorial Park.

The body will be ready for viewing at the funeral home after 7 p. m. today.

Keyser Pupils Get Support For Rec Center

$5,000 Needed For Project

KEYSER — Agnes Dayton, Ida May Hartman and DiAnn Welsh, representing the Tri-Hi-Y of Keyser High School, yesterday asked Mayor John C. Freeland and the City Council for assistance in providing a recreation center for the youth of Keyser.

The city recently completed construction of a two-floor building near the filtration plant for the City Water and Street departments for housing equipment. The three girl delegates asked that an additional floor be added to the building, at an estimated $5,000, for a recreation center. Council approved the plan.

The school group believes it will be able to raise the needed $5,000 through public appeals. A recreation center would be an assistance in the reduction of juvenile delinquency.

The girls now plan to call upon the Mineral County Court and the Mineral County Board of Education for financial help in providing a permanent student center.

The proposed center will be within a short distance of the city park and swimming pool and the girls believe it will be at least a partial answer to their needs.

Valdes Stops British Champ

Cuban Flattens Erskine In First

LONDON, Feb. 19 (P)—Big Nino Valdes of Cuba tonight stopped Joe Erskine, British heavyweight champion, in 2:03 of the first round of their 10-rounder at Earl's 2 Court Stadium. Valdes weighed 207½, Erskine 196½.

The 32-year-old Valdes never gave the 23-year-old Welshman a chance. A few seconds after the bell rang, Valdes dropped Erskine in a neutral corner with an overhand right.

After staggering to his feet at 12, Erskine tried to keep the strapping 6-foot-3 Cuban at a distance. But he couldn't keep off the aroused Valdes. Nino stalked him, closed in and smashed the young Welshman to the canvas again.

Erskine wobbled to his feet at six and then fell back again. Referee Jack Hart stopped the fight.

The victory was Valdes' sixth straight in Europe. The defeat snapped Erskine's unbeaten streak at 30.

Weiss Calls Ditmar "Ace" In Yanks-A's Player Swap

Morgan, McDermott, Rip Coleman, Noren, Hunter Are Traded

By BEN OLAN
NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—The New York Yankees, already heavily favored to retain their American League championship in 1957, today obtained pitchers Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz from Kansas City and gave up seven players in the biggest baseball deal in more than two years.

The Yankees also acquired infielder Wayne Belardi and southpaw pitcher Jack McManahan, both of whom were assigned to Denver, the Yanks' farm team in the American Assn.

In return, the Athletics received pitchers Maury McDermott, Tom Morgan and Rip Coleman, outfielder Irv Noren and infielders Billy Hunter and Milt Graff.

Three other players, as yet unnamed, also are included in the trade—one to be assigned to the A's by April 15 and the other two headed for the Yankees, one ticketed for Denver.

Infielder Cletis Boyer, a bonus player, originally was included in the trade. But it was later determined that bonus players cannot be released or traded until their bonus period is up. Boyer was signed by the A's on May 30, 1955 and therefore cannot be disposed of until May 31 of this year.

A Yankee spokesman said that in place of Boyer the world champions would receive another player by the June 15 trading deadline. He did not rule out the possibility that Boyer might be that player.

Calling Ditmar Ace
In announcing the 13-player transaction at a news conference, Yankee General Manager George Weiss beamed. "This is a good deal for us. Ditmar is the ace of the deal as far as we are concerned."

The trade was the largest in the majors since Nov. 18, 1954 when the Bombers picked up Don Larsen and Bob Turley, among others, in a 17-player swap with the Baltimore Orioles. The Orioles got nine players and New York eight.

"Ditmar has always gone well against Cleveland and other top clubs," said Weiss. "Shantz should help us in relief. We really haven't had a good lefthanded relief pitcher since Joe Page."

Ditmar, a right-hander, won 12 games and lost 22 for the A's last season. Included among his victories was a one-hitter against Chicago April 21 and shutouts against Baltimore and Detroit.

Shantz, the circuit's most valuable player in 1952 when he won 24 games and dropped seven, had a 2-7 record in 1956. He has been plagued by a sore shoulder.

In Kansas City, President Arnold Johnson of the Athletics called the trade "the most important since the Athletics were transferred from Philadelphia."

A's Needed Help
He said the move "changes the entire complexion of our club, giving us a badly needed second baseman, a colorful shortstop who will contest Joe DeMaestri for the job, and adds to the pitching staff where strength has been lacking."

Graff, a second baseman, hit .308 for Birmingham of the Southern Assn. last season. He paced the circuit in hits with 207. Noren, bothered by recurring knee injuries, had a .216 average in 39 games. ## Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19 (INS)—The answer to TV, Elmer Rhoden, head of National Theatres, believes, is to make large scale pictures rather than low budget movies. He said that if an independent producer has, say $500,000 cash to finance picture, National Theatres will pay the balance.

Said Rhoden, who will speak at the company's annual meeting tomorrow morning, "While production is increasing at the studios, many of the films are being made on a low budget, slanting them eventually for television. We want to stimulate the quality of motion pictures, making them suitable for screening in the larger theatres." This could very well be an answer to high budget TV programs.

That writer of mystery novels, Vera Caspary, has checked into Columbia to script "The Last Angry Man" for Fred Kohlmar. In looking about for someone who could give Gerald Green's best selling novel just the right touch, Freddie was fortunate to get Vera. She is very busy writing novels and short stories of her own.

Marlon Brando has been sent the book, and since this is a powerful story, Kohlmar is hopeful that Brando will accept his offer.

Met C. V. (Sonny) Whitney at the Cobina Wright party and he told me that Pat Wayne, Duke's son, is so tall that he cannot put him in "The Healing Woods" as was planned.

"I had to get a smaller boy, so I had put Brandon De Wilde in the part. We are casting every day and we will be starting the picture very soon."

I saw Sonny again at the screen producers dinner where he talked to Barbara Stanwyck. I wouldn't be surprised if Barbara is in one of his pictures. Sonny tells me his wife, Eleanor, gets here next week.

After seeing "10,000 Bedrooms," there is no doubt in my mind that Dean Martin is star material, even aside from his singing. He has a wonderful, affable personality and he talks very much in the same relaxed manner as Bing Crosby.

Anna Maria Alberghetti, too, has beauty, acting ability — and what a voice!

Dean doesn't have to worry about working with Jerry Lewis or anyone else, but he does have to worry about the type of material he gets. This may be just me — but I would like to have more comedy in his next musical.

I wish all the young people could have heard James Francis Cardinal McIntyre's beautiful talk to Stefania Maria Pignatelli and Joseph Garneau Werner at the high nuptial mass. His Eminence spoke of the sacrifices each must make and the advice he gave the glowing couple should be sent to as many young people as possible who are embarking on the perilous sea of matrimony.

I am sure the solemnity of marriage would prevent many of these youngsters from acting hastily.

The wedding itself was beautiful, and I had a tear when Stefie, coming down from the altar, stopped to kiss her wonderful mother, Princess Pignatelli, who has done a beautiful job with her three daughters.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The meanest thief in town is the woman who snatched Peggy (the former Mrs. Louis) Hayward's poodle in a market and got away before she could be stopped. Peggy is heartbroken.

Must see "Silk Stockings." At the party Saturday night, Cyd Charisse was being congratulated. They say it's her best picture. Tony Martin was very cute, saying, "I'm Mr. Cyd Charisse." Jana Lund is not only seeing Elvis Presley on the set of "Loving You," but she's been to the movies four times in a row with him.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

That Minus Quality

Frequently people are troubled because they never seem to retain new friends. They know something is wrong, but they can't seem to put their finger on the problem. Often, in just a short visit with them it is possible to perceive a flaw in their manner. When I mention it to them, the answer often goes something like this, "Do I do that? Why I never realized it!"

Many of us have annoying mannerisms which have become such a definite part of our behavior. We are the last ones to know how much they bother others.

Check and see if you have any of these faults. If so, start to remedy the situation immediately. If you can't do it by yourself, ask a relative or close friend to tell you each time you make a slip.

1—Do you "paw" people — touching their clothes, hanging on to their arm? It is always best to keep your hands to yourself.

per?" Usually people who have a "big-name" complex either expose themselves to ridicule or gain the reputation of judging people by name, position, or wealth. Don't punctuate your conversation with hints about Mrs. Rich, Mrs. Famous, or Count So-and-So or let it be known you concentrate too much on wordly possessions.

2—Are you a face-picker, lip-biter, hair-fixer, hand-twister, nail-polish peeler, fingernail chewer, shoulder-strap placer, head-scratcher, face-maker, nose-puller, chair-seat slider? (You should keep your hands in your lap, quietly!)

4—Do you pry into the privacy of another by asking personal questions? This is a crudeness that one should shun.

Any of the above detract from your charm and poise and are certainly most annoying to others.

Parking Ban Revocation Is Sought

Bedford Street Group Organizes

Residents of Bedford Street affected by a no parking ban imposed in connection with the Frederick Street Improvement Program last night adopted a two-step program to have the ban rescinded.

The action, taken at a meeting in First Christian Church and attended by about 28 residents of the 300, 400 and 500 blocks of Bedford Street included the start of a petition drive and the appointment of a committee to direct the rescinding action.

Identical petitions were started by those attending, asking Senators J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Commissioner C. D. Curtis, of the Bureau of Public Roads, and the Mayor and Council to use their good offices to have the ban lifted.

Name Committee
Rev. Carl Johnson, pastor of First Christian Church, Frank Simpson, Charles Bonig, W. A. Miller and John E. Miller were named to the committee directed to meet with the Mayor and Council to seek a solution to the problem. Alternates are Emma Darr and George Ziegler.

W. A. Miller was named chairman for the meeting and recounted the background of the ban which he said city officials report was part of the Frederick Street project package.

He said the ban on parking has created a hardship on businesses and residents of the area, and inconvenience to everyone who uses the area.

Residents were told the ban will stay on until the Bureau of Public Roads lets go of $66,000 which it is withholding because of the city's alleged non-compliance with the agreement under which the project became eligible for federal funds.

Say Safety Suffers

Mr. Miller said the committee has written to state and federal officials, most of whom sympathetically reported the matter did not lie within their jurisdiction.

He said about all that is known for sure is that the city has not received the $66,000 and that there is no parking on the three blocks between Decatur and Marietta streets.

Many of the residents attending were critical of the street as a one-way thoroughfare, saying safety has suffered since it reportedly became a speedway.

Mr. Miller pointed out that the city allows parking on the disputed area on Sundays and said he saw no reason why it could not be permitted other days, in view of the fact the area bordered by the wall is as wide as neighboring portions of the street.

The Mayor and Council came in for some criticism in connection with the contract.

Is In Contract

Typical was the comment of Leo Isaacs, 407 Bedford Street, that the "city fathers were not on the job . . . didn't read the contract."

Also questioned was the wisdom of four-year terms for city officials.

The parking ban was imposed in accordance with the July 13, 1953, Frederick Street agreement, which required the city to designate Frederick Street as a north-bound one-way thoroughfare, and to prohibit parking of vehicles along the westerly side of Frederick Street between North Mechanic Street and the corporate line, and to designate Bedford Street as a southbound one-way thoroughfare and to prohibit the parking of vehicles along the westerly side of Bedford Street between North Mechanic Street and the corporate line, and along the easterly side of Bedford Street between Decatur and Marietta streets.

$5,000 Damage Suit Docketed In Court

A $5,000 damage suit resulting from a motor vehicle collision on Town Hill Mountain has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Charles L. Harris, 16 Schiller Terrace, through Attorney Fred H. Anderson, filed the suit against Kenneth A. Fisk, RFD 1, Fountain City, Ind.

The plaintiff stated that he was driving east on U. S. Route 40 near the top of Town Hill Mountain last July 8. The defendant, driving west on Route 40 behind a truck, made a sudden left turn into the path of the plaintiff's vehicle, it was charged.

Harris is seeking $5,000 damages for injuries and damage to his automobile.

Olin Moody, scoutmaster for Troop 18, will open the scouts' section, and assistant scoutmaster Delbert Lease of Troop 9 will describe the aluminum pack frame, its materials, procurement, cost and assembly instructions.

Scoutmaster Ray Sine of Troop 23 will describe the lightweight wood pack board, outlining its materials, procurement, cost and assembly. Members of Troop 8, led by Scoutmaster Ernest Painter, will hold a diamond hitch relay. Assisting will be Patrick Goss, assistant scoutmaster, and Eagle Scout Tom Haselberger.

Assistant district commissioner Herbert Lehr will be moderator for the scout program.

Plan Indian Display

Cub songs, led by assistant district commissioner Francis Richardson, who also will act as moderator, will open the cub portion of the double session.

Cubmaster Earl Richardson of Pack 30 will lead the cub games and Pack 44 will have an Indian display, the theme for the month of March which will be "Indian Trails." Helping with the display will be den mothers, Mrs. Harry Baker, Mrs. Elmer Tranam and Mrs. George Hochard.

An Indian pack meeting den skit will be held by Pack 30, with den mothers, Mrs. Charles Seigler, Mrs. Garland Hummel, Mrs. Donald Conner and Mrs. Willard Morley, in charge.

To Tell Story

Following the den skit the April theme display will be shown by Pack 46. Assisting with the "Swiss Family Robinson" display will be den mothers, Mrs. Ray Steinla, Mrs. Edward Richards and Mrs. George Allen.

Francis Richardson then will tell the story of "Swiss Family Robinson" to attending cubs and cub leaders. A question and answer period will follow.

Refreshments will be served for both groups at the conclusion of the meetings.

Mr. Thompson said all district scouts and cubs and their leaders are invited to attend the roundtable discussions.

Delegates Pass Rockfish Bill In Quiet Session

Roads Measures Nearer To Passage

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 19 (AP) — Silence caused as much stir as a debate today in the House of Delegates.

Not a word was spoken as the hitherto controversial banning of commercial rock fish nets in the Susquehanna River channel sailed over to the Senate.

There were more votes against it—eight—in the Chesapeake Bay committee than in the entire House roll call. It brought only 7 nays to 100 in favor.

The silence gave support to a report that leaders of sportsmen and commercial interests, which had blown off steam at a hearing, had come to an "agreement."

The rumor was that commercial fishermen had bowed to giving up the Susquehanna fishing spot in return for an easing of pressure to prohibit all rock fishing during January and February. That question is to come up later in the session.

Sports fishermen want to keep the commercial nets out of the channel. They claim the rock gathered there are too easy prey and are taken by the tons. Only a comparatively few of the commercially licensed fishermen would be affected.

Roads Bills Moved Up

The House moved closer to passage bills to permit the State Roads Commission to transfer more construction money to its maintenance fund and regulate the testing of cars and trucks on Maryland highways.

Both measures have passed the Senate.

The revenue bill will permit the SRC to boost from 3 million dollars to 4 million the amount it is currently transferring from construction to maintenance in the 12-year roads program.

The Legislature earlier repealed a scheduled hike in motor vehicle registration fees which would have been used for maintenance purposes.

The bill to regulate testing of cars and trucks grew out of the use of U. S. 40 between Hancock and Cumberland as a mountain "testing ground" for Chrysler Corp. trucks.

Hughes Sees Hazard

Del. Hughes (R-Allegany) said the eight tractor trailers being used in the project beat up an already bad road and created a safety hazard.

He said they were operating around the clock until a letter was written to the firm, and Chrysler stopped the project.

The bill sponsored by Sens. Turnbull (D-Balto County) and Phoebus (R-Somerset) would require approval of the State Roads Commission in the future for such operations.

The Ways and Means Committee tacked on an amendment specifying that they would also be required to pay $25 for concurrence in amendments.

Snow Forecast For District

Of Man Winter persists remaining in the weather picture, and the forecast called for "colder and windy" last night with rain in the east changing to snow, and snow flurries in the mountains.

The Weather Bureau promised minor accumulations of one to three inches of snow. The temperature was expected to go as low as 15 degrees above in the western portion of the state overnight.

Today partly cloudy skies are forecast with snow flurries in the extreme west. In Oakland last night at 9 o'clock the temperature had dipped to 20 above, and according to Ralph Weber, official weather observer, the temperature dropped quickly during a couple of hours last night.

He said it had been "trying to snow" in Garrett County for the past day or so although it hadn't arrived by 9 o'clock. There is still snow on the ground in Garrett County. Mr. Weber said the depth varies from one to three inches, although roads are clear.

In Cumberland last night the temperature dropped to an unofficial 32 degrees and was steadily dipping around 9:30 o'clock. There was a feeling of snow in the air but it had not put in its appearance at that time.

Olds said this program includes flood control, conservation, water storage, water supply, pollution control, electric power and recreation.

The program was proposed by the Army Engineers in 1946 and was rejected by Congress after being opposed by farming and recreational interests. A review of the plan was ordered by the U.S. Senate Committee on Public Works and is scheduled for completion in 1961.

But Olds said the studies are substantially as complete now as those which have served as a basis for congressional authorization of programs and projects for other river basins.

Olds said the River Bend project is the key to meeting both of

CAPTAIN FRANCES ARAGON

Nurse Recruiter For Air Force Will Visit Here

Captain Frances Aragon, nurse personnel procurement officer for this district of United States Air Force recruitment, will visit here Thursday and Friday to interview nurses interested in an Air Force career, and also to address student nurses at Memorial Hospital School of Nursing.

Captain Aragon has advised local Air Force recruiters that she will be available February 21 and 22 for interviews. She plans to arrive at the Air Force recruiting station in the Post Office Building at 1 p. m. Thursday and will be available until 5 p. m. for interviews there. During the evening she may be seen by appointment at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The following day, Friday, she will be at the recruiting station from 8:30 a. m. until 1 p. m. for interviews. At 2 p. m. she will address nursing classes at Memorial Hospital.

Local recruiters noted that February 22 is normally a holiday, and the recruiting office would be closed, but because of Captain Aragon's scheduled visit the office will be open until 1 p. m. on that day.

Tulips Pushing, Robins Singing; Snow Threats Fly

Snow is being predicted for the area, but take heart. Spring is on the way.

One of the sure harbingers of spring is reported by Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, member of the City Park Board.

Tulips, Mrs. Findlay says, are up about two inches at the Maryland Avenue park area, where up to 1,800 of the bulbs were planted last fall.

The leaves of the tulips are just pushing through the ground in a park area near South Cumberland Fire Station.

Another sign of the approach of spring, she said, was reported by Miss Elsie H. Bapst, 160 Bedford Street, who saw her first 1957 robin this week.

Mrs. Findlay said Washington's Headquarters will not be opened officially this year because of flood control work in the Riverside Park area.

Pipe Inlet Laid At Pumping Unit

Some of the finishing tasks were completed last week at Cumberland's sewage treatment plant, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Typical was the tile flooring laid in the entrance corridor of the main sewage pumping station and in a laboratory in the building.

At the Evitts Creek pumping station, crews were laying brick and finishing inside concrete forms and last week started and completed the installation of a 24-inch pipe inlet sewer and its concrete cradle.

At the main site, crews continued work on the sludge bed frames and started excavating for electrical cable.

Most of the work was inside, as the ground was muddy from snows and a heavy rain.

Seeks Liquor License

Mary E. Reed has filed an application with the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners for a beer, wine and liquor license in premises at 442 Columbia Street.

Albrecht Bids $1,288,000 For Flood Contract

Job Includes Mile Of Channel Work

The E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, yesterday submitted the only bid received for the construction of Section 2 of the Potomac River phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

The company, which is currently working on two contracts of the $18,000,000 project, submitted a bid of $1,288,000 for the work.

A Washington District official of the Corps of Engineers told the Associated Press the single bid will probably be accepted since it was close to the government estimate of the cost.

Trestle Is Included
The project consists chiefly of the improvement of about one mile of the channel of the river from the new Blue Bridge downstream and the construction of a new bridge to serve as the Baltimore and Ohio-Western Maryland Railway interchange.

It is estimated that work on the project will take about 18 months. Officials of the Corps of Engineers recently told city officials there would also be a few cleanup jobs to be done as the project winds up in 1958.

Work on four contracts of the flood protection job are being pushed by the Albrecht firm and the Hazelwood Construction Company, of Cumberland.

Four Jobs Started
Albrecht is currently completing a few final tasks on the first Potomac River contract and is ahead of schedule on a $2,077,369 contract for Wills Creek sections 2 and 3 and the Viaduct Pumping Station. It is making progress on a $732,735 contract for the construction of the Mill Race and Ridgeley pumping stations.

The Hazelwood firm is fighting high water and weather as it works on the $2,854,253 contract for Wills Creek Section 4, which includes the construction of the new Baltimore Street traffic bridge and the new Western Maryland Railway trestle at Baltimore Street.

Rev. Dr. Sheldon E. Mackey, D. D., secretary of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, was in Cumberland to tell preachers how to preach.

Dr. Mackey, speaking to the Cumberland Ministerial Association Monday at Central YMCA, emphasized Lenten preaching. He termed it a special kind of preaching in which the doctrine of the atonement is fundamental.

The speaker stressed that both spiritual and scholarly preparation for the demands of the Lenten season are imperative. A pastor needs to immerse himself in the Passion Story in the record of the New Testament rather than in books of sermons, he said. Personal and private devotions are a must for any preacher.

Dr. Mackey concluded with the following three proposals:

1. Preach the Gospel and do not use books of sermons as a crutch; 2. make your communications from the pulpit crystal clear, do not use terms that you assume your people are acquainted with; preach with conviction; 3. show your people how to apply the Gospel to their everyday living. Exalt not man, but Christ in your preaching.

At the business meeting Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, was elected vice president of the Ministerial Association, succeeding Rev. David C. Streett, who is leaving the city March 1. It also was approved to cooperate in the World Day of Prayer March 8, sponsored by the Cumberland Council of Church Women.

Miss Hoover Gets 20-Year Award

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, office manager for the Allegany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has received a pin and certificate for 20 years' service in the office.

The presentation was made last week at the meeting of the county ASC committees, community chairmen and county office managers from throughout the state at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore. Miss Hoover recalled that when she went to work for the committee in 1937 it was supposed to have been for six weeks only.

Farm, Power Interests Clash Over Potomac Development

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 19 (AP) — A farmer-recreationist clashed with hydroelectric power interests today over a proposed solution to the problems of the Potomac River basin.

The conflict of interests cropped up during the second day of a 3-day interstate conference called by Gov. McKeldin to form a plan for development of the basin.

Anthony Wayne Smith, Washington attorney who operates a dairy farm near Mercersburg, Pa., expressed the first opposition to the general sentiment for early study and construction of a multipurpose dam at River Bend. It would be the first step in accomplishment of a proposed comprehensive plan for the basin.

Smith told Leland Olds, director of Energy Research Associates in Washington, "We in Franklin County, Pa., will meet you at the county line with a pitchfork in one hand and a shotgun in the other if you come up there to survey for dam construction."

Smith, a member of the District of Columbia delegation to the conference, said he was speaking his personal views.

He said he thought the conference was called to talk about the abatement of pollution in the river and was "surprised to find emphasis on hydroelectric power."

"I am very apprehensive that if you tangle up your important pollution problem with a hydroelectric power program that isn't going anywhere, you will kill the pollution program," Smith said.

The Washington attorney said, "Practical politicians will realize this is coal country and coal interests will retire from office any legislator who proposes hydroelectric cooperative principle but 'burying good farm land under hydroelectric dams for the benefit of the cities has got to stop in this country.'"

"I also said, 'There's been a lot of lies about getting recreational facilities out of hydroelectric dams.'"

A professional recreationist and conservationist who spoke later said he wasn't sure about this. Bernard Frank, another member of the District of Columbia delegation and an employee of the U.S. Forest Service, said recreationists are opposed only to those public power projects which do not "leave us some area where we can commune with God."

He said he would have to study and survey the proposed River Bend project before deciding if it would be harmful to recreational interests.

Olds, former chairman of the Federal Power Commission, told the delegates from District of Columbia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland that they should start a move in Congress to initiate construction of the proposed River Bend project, about five miles above Great Falls, as the first step in a multi-purpose program of basin development.

Olds said this program includes flood control, conservation, water storage, water supply, pollution control, electric power and recreation.

The program was proposed by the Army Engineers in 1946 and was rejected by Congress after being opposed by farming and recreational interests. A review of the plan was ordered by the U.S. Senate Committee on Public Works and is scheduled for completion in 1961.

But Olds said the studies are substantially as complete now as those which have served as a basis for congressional authorization of programs and projects for other river basins.

Olds said the River Bend project is the key to meeting both of the two "greatest needs of the region's future, water supply and low-cost power."

Col. George B. Sumner, Washington district engineer for the Army, said the current schedule calls for completion of the River Bend project study by 1958. He said that study will cost about $250,000.

Earlier today, Rep. DeWitt Hyde (R-Md) suggested the answer to pollution problems is an amendment to the 1937 compact to give the Interstate Commission on the Potomac Authority to control dumping in the river.

This may be one of the recommendations the conference delegates consider tomorrow morning when they meet to draft an interim report.
